The Speech Coach For Executives

How to Deliver Superior Presentations

Presentation Coaching is Personalized to Your Circumstances

As a client for presentation coaching you bring your own unique set of circumstances and challenges. That's why George Torok's ability to listen, question and imagine will help you.

Through his presentation coaching George Torok has helped:

- One successful CEO transform his New York trade show presentation to super star status within his industry.
- A CFO in a public company forced to present in a formal and structured environment deliver her financial reports with more relevance, rapport and confidence.
- A quiet entrepreneur and owner of three thriving businesses volunteer and successfully deliver inspiring talks to youth in his community.
- The new, young and self-conscious CEO of a respected charitable foundation present herself to her distinguished board and benefactors with more confidence, rapport building-stories and success.
- The rising-star health care executive eliminate the annoying distractions from her presentations to deliver more focused, refreshing and effective presentations.
- A second generation company CEO feel and project more confidence when speaking to staff and clients.
- The company founder break out of a deal-losing slump to start consistently winning multi-million dollar deals.
- A forensic specialist deliver his gut wrenching message about the warning signs of abuse in a more constructive and humane way.
- Several business leaders confidently take on leadership roles – and the required public speaking duties within their trade and industry associations.
- A self-made multi-millionaire manage the unfamiliar and unwanted public speaking duties of his appointment to public office.

What's your presentation challenge? George Torok is ready to help you.